

Donor Privacy Policy

The International Crane Foundation is committed to protecting the trust of our donors. In recognition of this, we do not sell, share or trade any personal information with other organizations. Further, we do not distribute any electronic or other communications on behalf of other organizations.

This policy includes information received by the International Crane Foundation through electronic, written or oral communications.

Where a third-party service provider is used to process contributions, personal information will be used only as necessary to process the transaction and not for any other purpose.

For more information on internet security, please refer to our Internet Privacy Policy.
